Does this product provide inferences about student growth? If so, how?	Inferences about student growth may be made through an analysis of assessment data. Student growth is determined through a pre-test at the beginning of the school year and an interim and/or post-test at the end of the school year. The assessments generate NCE (Normal Curve Equivalent) scale scores that are used to evaluate student growth and teacher class progress during the school year. Student growth may also be inferred by comparing year-to-year student growth data. Assessment results are delivered to teachers and principals in easy-to-understand reports within 3-5 school days after the close of the school's testing period, so that they can also be used to plan intervention and instruction.
