General information about the program

The Jon Peterson Special Needs Scholarship Program gives the parents of children with disabilities the choice to send their children to special education programs other than the ones operated by their school districts of residence. The goal is to provide families options for their children to receive the education and services outlined in their individualized education programs (IEP).

Generally, there are two qualifications for the Jon Peterson Scholarship. First, the district has identified the student (kindergarten through grade 12) as a child with a disability. Identification means that the child's evaluation team report from the district states that the child required special education and related services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004 (IDEA). Second, the district has created an individualized education program for the child.

Student Participation

For the FY 2016 program period (2015-2016 school year), 4,354 students participated in the Jon Peterson Scholarship Program. Of the total awarded students, 171 returned to a public school district after receiving the Jon Peterson Scholarship.

Resident Districts of Students

For the FY 2016 program period, there were 417 public school districts with students participating in the Jon Peterson Scholarship Program.

Scholarship Funds Disbursed Statewide by Disability Category

The basis of the amount of each scholarship is the primary disability identified on the student's IEP. The scholarship is the lesser of the fee/tuition chartered for the child by the special education program up to the maximum amount awarded based on the child's special education category. Maximum scholarship amounts range from $7,578 to $27,000 per school year.

Table 2. Special education categories and award amounts
