

Make it real for your students

Seeing the future they want and reaching that dream is not clear for many Ohio students.

By 2018, 60 percent of all jobs will require education and training beyond high school.

You work every day to show your students what it takes to be successful. You make the link for students between what they are learning and future careers.

Career Connections is a new support for you. It provides decision-making materials, information and tools that easily fit into classroom instruction at all grades levels.

HOW DO YOU GET STARTED WITH CAREER CONNECTIONS?

First, take a look at what you are currently doing to help students discover their interests and potential jobs or careers.

Then, use Career Connections to build and expand specific ways that you can connect existing activities with what students are learning in the grade or classroom.

Examples for High School:

Students will brainstorm characteristics of effective speakers and look for them as they watch selected video clips. After viewing videos of three dynamic speakers, students will talk about how communications skills are important across all types of jobs (for example, hospitality, IT or health). Students will include communication skills in their plans for education and training through high school and beyond.

Making connections excite and motivate students to learn.
