What does an ideal data-informed culture look like and how does it impact teaching and learning?

This session is offered virtually in a 3-part webinar: Growth, Achievement and Other Data. The training is built for district and building leaders, curriculum directors, instructional coaches, special education directors, gifted coordinators, data and teacher leaders, and DLT and BLT members.

You will learn to:

- Envision a picture of the data "story";
- Identify sources of data to inform a reflective process
- Promote instructional leadership to empower ownership of data;
- Develop actionable steps;
- Determine how to sustain the process of reflection

Registrants will receive a Zoom registration link prior to the first day of the series.
