

The Balloon

My little brother Pedro loves balloons. Yesterday we went to the store and Mom bought him a red balloon. Then we went to the park.

Pedro asked Mom if he could let the balloon go. He wanted to see what would happen to the red balloon.

My mom said he could let the balloon go. Pedro opened his hand and he let go of the string. We watched the balloon fly up into the air.

At first the balloon got caught in a tree. Then the balloon broke free and floated up into the sky.

Higher and higher it went. The balloon was getting smaller and smaller. Then we couldn't see the balloon any more.
