

Ohio's kids dream big.

As they get older, their dreams may change – but they continue to have high aspirations.

As a parent or teacher, you are vital in helping your children's dreams come true. One way is by showing them the connection between school and future work. You can start by talking to your children and showing them pathways to their future.

Thanks to OhioMeansJobs K-12, getting the information you need to do this is easy, convenient and free!

OhioMeansJobs.com has information and resources on Ohio's in-demand jobs, high school -level career planning, college and training programs, and much more!

See how you can help every child's dream come true.
