All new first-time EdChoice-Expansion applicants must have their income verified by the EdChoice Office unless the applicant is eligible based on the sibling criteria. When applying for an EdChoice-Expansion scholarship as a new applicant, the total household gross income must be at or below 250% of the Federal poverty guidelines (see chart above).

Income verification is required for new applicants unless they are eligible for the sibling criteria or any applicant who would like to be considered for low-income status.

Scholarship families with a total gross household income at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty guideline qualify for low-income status. This means that the private school cannot charge these families for any tuition that is not covered by the scholarship.

Scholarship families with a total gross household income at 201% or higher, per the Federal Poverty guideline, are responsible for paying any tuition difference not covered by the scholarship.
